HE FORESEES WAR WITH MEXICO

Gov. West of Oregon Says Monroe Doctrine Sure to Force War Upon Us

SCORES CAPITALISTS WHO ASK INTERVENTION

But Says Foreign Nations Will Bring Pressure that Cannot Be Avoided

SALEM, Ore., March 18.—Declaring that he cannot conceive of anything happening to bring about settled conditions in Mexico, Governor West, who returned today from Washington via Juarez, said he believed the United States will be compelled to send an army into Mexico to maintain the Monroe doctrine, in the near future. He said he is sure that war is coming that he will have the Oregon National Guard immediately begin preparations. He said:

"I think the administration is right in doing everything possible to keep out of Mexico. Capitalists went to Mexico knowing the conditions of the country and capitalized these unsettled conditions, and there is no reason now for the United States to send an army to pull their coasts out of the fire, with the enormous attendant loss of life. But we are maintaining the Monroe doctrine, and I believe such pressure will be brought to bear by other nations that we will have to go to war."

INSURGENTS SHOT DOWN AND THROWN INTO TRENCH

MEXICO CITY, March 18.—One hundred and forty-nine mutineers were executed at Jolinda barracks today. Less than thirty minutes were required for the bloody deed. The corpses were piled high against an adobe wall where the men had been lined up. The bodies were later tumbled unceremoniously into a single trench.

President Huerta was in high humor over the reported federal successes at Escalon. It is stated now that he will not personally take the field unless the rebels gain the upper hand. Foreign Minister Rojas had an engagement today with President Wilson's envoy, John Lind. He said the business would not be made public.

BURNS RESULT WILSON FAVORS 12 RESERVE BANKS IN DEATH OF CHILD

Ada Elosson Succumbs to Injuries Received at Lemon Heights Home Saturday

MOTHER USED KEROSENE TRYING TO LIGHT FIRE

Eight-Year-Old Girl Was Only Daughter of J. F. Elosson on Simon Ranch

As a result of frightful burns received Saturday at her home on the Simon ranch at Lemon Heights, Ada Elosson, only child of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Elosson, died yesterday at the Santa Ana Hospital. Fully half the surface of the girl's body was burned and she succumbed despite heroic measures on the part of Dr. Barlow and other physicians to save her life. The accident occurred at about 10 o'clock Saturday. The girl's mother, Mrs. Elosson, was in the kitchen trying to start a fire with kerosene. Ada was in the room playing with her dog. Suddenly the coal oil can in the mother's hands became a mass of flame. Mrs. Elosson started for the door and called to her daughter, who was only eight years of age, to look out. In some manner the girl, instead of running away from the danger, ran directly in front of her mother and instantly became enveloped in flames.

Mrs. Elosson smothered the flames as quickly as she could but not quickly enough to prevent the burns which resulted in Ada Elosson's death. The mother's hands were burned severely in extinguishing the blaze. Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock this morning at the Swedish Lutheran Church at Seventeenth and Hope streets, Los Angeles.

None of the three officials signed the petition.

MISSOURI ATHLETIC CLUB, IN THE BURNING OF WHICH MANY WELL-KNOWN MEN LOST THEIR LIVES

The Missouri Athletic Club building in St. Louis burned with many prominent men, who lost their lives without a chance of escape. The club had a membership of 1500, and it was one of the best known organizations of the west. The sleeping rooms contained many persons who live there regularly and some who had come in for the night. Shortly after the fire started the roof fell in, carrying all through the wreckage. Later the walls caved, and then it was seen there was little chance of getting any one out alive.

There were many thrilling rescues from the windows and some persons jumped. Two men lost their lives by leaping from the sixth floor.

WAR OF NATIONS JONES SCORES IMPLIED IN SPEECH WILSON ON TOLLS

Churchill Defends Navy Budget by Prediction of Coming Time of Disaster

LONDON, March 18.—Between the differences of opinion regarding the First Lord of Admiralty Winston Churchill's naval-expansion program and the Irish Home Rule deadlock, politicians of all parties believed today that the British Liberal administration is near the rocks.

Urging the Commons last night to give a quarter of a billion for the building of warships in the coming year, Churchill broadly intimated that before 1921 when the Anglo-Japanese alliance expires, England and Japan will need the strongest navies they can provide. He said:

"Cases that might lead to a general war have not been removed, and the world is armed as never before. All attempts to arrest it will be ineffective."

Churchill also said: "Great Britain will have ten of the new big-gun battleships in the water by the time any other nation in the world has two. 'All these ships,' he added, 'will carry fifteen-inch guns—the best weapons ever possessed by the navy and capable of hurling a projectile weighing a ton a distance of twelve miles.'"

Four of these ships, which are presumably to burn oil, are provided in the budget for next year. Three of them are of the Royal Sovereign type and one of the Queen Elizabeth type. The Queen Elizabeth, launched last October, was the first ship to mount fifteen-inch guns, of which she is to have ten. Her cost is estimated at about $12,000,000. She uses oil fuel exclusively.

The Royal Sovereign, the first ship of an even more powerful type, has not yet been launched and no details as to her size or equipment have been made public.

WILL INVOKE UNWRITTEN LAW

Famous Maitre Labori to Defend Mme. Caillaux and Will Present That Plea

"PRIVATE AFFAIRS MUST NOT ENTER IN POLITICS"

Tragedy Throws Paris in Turmoil—Royalists Making Most of Situation

PARIS, March 18.—The French "unwritten law" by which private affairs are not permitted to enter into politics will be pleaded for Madame Henriette Caillaux who shot and killed Editor Gaston Calmette of the Figaro, according to an announcement made today by her attorney, the famous Maitre Labori.

Labori is a personal friend of Caillaux, but said he took the case "for humanity's sake." He said he will prove that Editor Calmette not only published one letter written by Caillaux to his present wife before each were legally divorced from their previous conjugal partners, but that he had others, and the woman was justified in killing him to protect her reputation.

Situation Is Tense. The political situation is tense, following the shooting of Calmette. It is said that nothing since the Dreyfus affair has so stirred the people of France as the killing of the editor of the Figaro and the events preceding and following. Caillaux, after resigning, was hissed as he visited his wife in prison. The Chamber of Deputies was in a turmoil yesterday, the opponents of the cabinet taking the opportunity to denounce Caillaux and his associates.

Royalists Scattered

The Royalists Association was called out late last night by Leon Daudet, the leader, who harangued his followers in a fierce denunciation of Caillaux, shouts of execration against Caillaux rising in response. The Royalists were finally scattered by the prefect of Paris, M. Hennion, at the head of a large body of police, the Royalists shouting "Down with the republic. Long live the King."

SCENE IN NEW YORK STREETS, SHOWING CITY HELPLESS IN STORM

With ten inches of snow that fell in New York city during the recent storm, the big burg was rendered almost helpless. How much merchants lost because they could not deliver goods may never be known. Some estimates have gone higher than $10,000,000. Trains on all the railroads coming into the city from the north, south and west were delayed for more than ten hours.

On Manhattan Island few of the street car lines were open. It was possible to get around only because the elevated lines and the subway could not be blocked with snow. In Brooklyn traffic was almost suspended. Staten Island, which is another borough of the city, had no street car lines in operation at all.

It has been estimated that the cost of removing the snow will be not less than $1,000,000. A storm just preceding had cost as much.

MOTORCYCLE COLLIDES WITH AN AUTOMOBILE

Anaheim Herald: Yesterday Fred White collided with an auto out near the sugar factory. The auto was driven by a Mr. Heinz of Fullerton, and was coming south when White ran into it.

No fault can be put on Mr. Heinz as White was not an experienced driver and was at fault in his driving. White had recently purchased a new motorcycle and was on his way to Buena Park when the accident occurred. His motorcycle was broken, and one hand was crushed and a few other minor bruises were received by White. No serious damage was done on account of the slow rate of travel being done by the auto and the motorcycle. If the brakes on White's motorcycle had acted properly the accident could have been averted.

White was brought to town by M. B. Stanford, the motorcycle man, and his wounds dressed by a physician.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON LETTER

By Burton K. Standish

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The United States Senate is preoccupied with itself. The annual rumormongering sessions has just been staged. There was a grave debate about the matter the other day.

The question of "leaks" from the executive sessions has been perennial ever since there was a Senate. A humorist here is credited with the epigram that the only reason the Senate adjourns its secret sessions is in order that members may have an opportunity to talk the session over with newspapermen. The writer recalls vividly how a number of years ago the late Senator Heyburn of Idaho, made an impassioned and indignant appeal to senators not to talk about executive sessions—referring to a piece of news which Heyburn himself had given the writer following a "secret" session. Heyburn was perfectly honest about his protest—he didn't realize that he had let the news slip—but his is the attitude of most of the senators. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, is, however, "wise" to the newspaper boys.

"These correspondents are trained men," he told the Senate. "They get a point from one senator, a point from another and then piece it together. They talk with senators about public questions and gain their point of view. Then, with the fragmentary pieces of information, they are able to put together a plausible story."

Reverting to Heyburn's protest again: The Idaho senator made his protest in open session and then when the Senate got down to executive business, he got up and said some more bitter things. A newspaper correspondent with a sense of humor made it his business to gather the gist of Heyburn's argument and the next morning the Idaho solon was astounded to note that his speech in the executive session was reported in full. Then he made his famous speech recommending that the Senate press gallery be abolished.

Sensor Kern is the man most exercised now about the leaks. He has introduced a resolution demanding an investigation by the Senate Foreign Relations committee of how the newspapers get their information. Other Young, and every other army officer, senators favor making it a crime for a newspaper to print news of happenings in executive sessions.

Newport Beach has had enough electric light troubles in the last three years to do a city many times its population. Just now it is in the midst of more trouble. Lew H. Wallace, the well known harbor booster, is plaintiff in an action in which L. S. Wilkinson, city clerk of the beach town, is defendant. The superior court is asked to instruct Wilkinson not to put on the ballot an ordinance which if carried will void the franchise granted to the Pacific Light & Power Co.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take Tablespoonful of Salts if
Back Hurts or Bladder
Bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Advertisement.

C. H. L. Ghriest of Newport Beach had the lighting supply of Newport Beach in his hands for a long time. Many people of the beach city were not satisfied with the service. Bonds were voted, and Ghriest sued to prevent the sale. In the meantime, Wallace and others who were not in accord with Ghriest's service, began to feel better over the prospects when the Pacific Light & Power Co. decided to invade the territory and run competition to Ghriest. Ghriest fought the project before the Railroad Commission and lost. The franchise to erect a system of poles and wires was sold to the Pacific company on July 14, 1913. Ghriest contended that the company did not live up to the terms of the franchise in that work of construction did not commence within four months after the date of the franchise.

Ghriest contended that the franchise ought to be made void, that the Pacific company had forfeited it. An initiative petition was started. That petition asked that there be placed upon the ballot for the city election of April 13 the question of the passage of an ordinance declaring the franchise void.

There were twenty-nine signatures on the petition, and as the law stands the city clerk will put the question on the ballot. Wallace, however, has brought suit to enjoin him from doing so. Wallace's complaint, filed by Attorneys Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher of Los Angeles, asserts that a franchise cannot be taken away in the manner proposed. It alleges that the Pacific company did perform all the obligations of the franchise, and that the franchise cannot be made void by the vote of the city council or by the vote of the people so long as the franchise provisions are not violated.

Did Not Appear
This morning when court convened to try the action of Max L. Hubermann against M. R. Heninger, Hubermann did not appear, and judgment was given Heninger. Hubermann sued Heninger to get possession of an agreement for the paving of South Birch street. He alleged that Heninger circulated the agreement for him, got signatures to it and then refused to give it to Hubermann, who asked $1000 judgment as damages. Heninger declared that he at no time was Hubermann's agent, and the property owners preferred another contract, which they have since entered into, as the Crandall Construction Co. is now paving the street. E. W. and H. J. Forgy represented Hubermann and Williams & Rutan the defendant.

Says Deed Good
Today Attorney W. F. Heathman filed an answer and cross-complaint in the action brought by F. W. Mansur as guardian of Mrs. Sarah Lucas against Henry Lucas. The complaint alleges that Lucas used undue influence to get his mother to deed him property worth $2000, at a time when his mother's mind was unclouded. Lucas in his answer declares that the deed was signed without duress, and that his mother gave it to him as compensation for having taken care of her for fifteen years. The complaint alleges that the deed was lost.

FRENCH MACHINE GUN MOUNTED ON BIPLANE IN AIR

The French have carried the use of aeroplanes to such a degree that they have actually mounted a machine gun on one of them. This gun was placed on a Deperson biplane in tests just made at Villacoublay. The photograph shows Captain Desbouches of the French army, aiming the gun. The aviator is Maurice Prevost, who is known internationally as a daring aviator.

SOME AFTERTHOUGHTS OF THE FOURTH NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW

Two things particularly impressed us at the fourth National Orange Show, at San Bernardino, last month.

1. The fact that so many of the prize winning navel oranges came from trees propagated from buds closely related to the original Washington navel, or Tibbets trees.

2. The paucity of exhibits in the citrus by-products classes.

Etiwanda won the navel orange sweepstakes largely with fruit produced on trees but twice removed from the original Washington navel trees. Riverside, the oldest navel orange growing district, the home of these first trees, carried off a large number of the navel orange prizes.

Of the Etiwanda exhibit the exhibitors conceded the palm to fruit from the Wm. McBean orchard as being the best they had; in other words it was the best fruit at the show. The history of this fruit is most interesting.

Over thirty years ago Wm. McBean, then of Riverside, set out one of the first navel orange orchards at Etiwanda, planting 20 acres of land with trees grown from buds taken from one of Riverside's first navel orange orchards, situated on Jurupa Ave., Riverside, quite close to the old B. Barney orchard (the first commercial orchard in California propagated from the Tibbets stock) and from which it in turn had been propagated. These Etiwanda trees of Wm. McBean are then but twice removed from the original Washington navel stock. One of the most interesting exhibits at the show was a table display made by Wm. McBean of oranges from these Etiwanda trees, together with some wonderful branches and clusters. It was very noticeable that this fruit possessed the true navel shape, oblong rather than round, with the navel well marked, but not abnormal or disfiguring. Although these oranges came from trees over thirty years old they showed as much "life" as fruit from younger trees, being large, smooth skinned and well colored, and in this were but typical of the entire crop on the twenty acres; while these self same trees, planted but twenty feet apart and now growing very close together will average over six packed boxes this season.

Dr. H. J. Webber, of the Citrus experiment station, was much interested in this fruit as coming so close to the original importations and plantings of California navel oranges. He has stated that one of the marvels of the horticultural world today has been the manner in which the navel orange has remained true to type in spite of the fact that it originated as a "sport" and of the hit and miss method of obtaining buds in the past, the almost entire absence of selection from the best types on the part of propagators and nurserymen. But it is nevertheless true that there are many navel orange orchards and trees today, which although descended from the original Tibbets trees do not represent the best either in fruitfulness or quality of fruit.

As a lesson in the value of obtaining true stock for planting, of the importance of careful selection in propagating, this orchard of Wm. McBean's is noteworthy. Amongst the original stock set out were a few trees grown from buds taken from other and inferior varieties of the navel orange, and these have proven of little worth, although grown under identical the same conditions as the balance of the orchard, being in fact scattered in it.

So far as the citrus by-product classes and exhibits were concerned there was little to be seen at the show, especially when considering the great possibilities and wide scope offered by this most promising young industry. It is possible that another year more persistent effort on the part of the management of the show will induce a more comprehensive display of such products. The increasing number of citrus by-product plants scattering around the citrus belt and the greater interest now being taken by the citrus industry at large in the question of by-product manufacture as a means of disposing profitably of cull and low grade fruits, should see next season a much more comprehensive display.

STEVE PEREZ SAYS
DID NOT GO TO FIRE
WITH ED. MOLINO

Steve Perez was quizzed yesterday by Constable Heard, and the story he told of reaching the fire that destroyed Fred Keller's house on Logan street Sunday night was entirely different from the story told by Ed. Molino. Molino was arrested after the fire, and was sent to jail for five days for intoxication. He said that he and Perez were walking along Logan street when they saw the fire. A woman rushed out of the front door of the burning house. Ed. seized a hose, and went through the front door and single-handed played the hero, fighting the fire.

Constable Heard knew that Molino's story was twisted, for when he arrived at the fire Molino and Perez were at the back door breaking it in.

Perez declares that he was not with Molino at all. He says he was at a house on Lincoln street when some woman yelled "fire!" Steve ran through the backyard, broke in the back door with his fist and played the stream of water on the fire. His hand was severely cut.

The mystery as to how the fire was started has not been solved. No one was at home at the time, and Molino's statement of someone rushing from the house is not given credence. Keller has not been able to find a diamond ring and two other rings that disappeared from a drawer of a bureau that was not entirely destroyed.

A GOOD ORDINANCE

One of the most fundamentally important actions of the City Trustees in many years was the adoption Monday night of the ordinance providing for the election of City Trustees at large instead of by wards. This ordinance passed its final reading Monday night, has been signed by the Chairman of the Board and published. It is now the law of the city—and a good law, too. It is distinctively a progressive measure—not in a partisan sense but on general principles of advance in methods of municipal government.

AS TO STREET WORK

The Register regrets to note that several important, much-needed and greatly-desired street improvements are held up by the non-consent of a very small percentage of the abutting property owners.

It is right, of course, to give property owners every opportunity to make consent unanimous and thus avoid unnecessary expense. But it would seem that the limit of persuasion and forbearance had been reached when over ninety per cent of those concerned have joined in a petition and the others have been advised of that fact and have been repeatedly and urgently requested to join in the petition.

In cases where the non-consenters are able to pay we believe it would be a good policy for the City Trustees to concentrate the expense of Vrooman Act proceedings against the non-consenting property; and in cases where the non-consent is clearly due to inability to pay, the other property on the street should be willing to bear the proportionate share of Vrooman Act expense.

But in no case should there be unnecessary delay in making needed improvements such as are urgently demanded just now on West Fourth, East Fifth, South Main and South Sycamore streets.

HEAR ROOSEVELT

Up to date the reactionary newspapers have not attempted to hold the Progressives responsible for the severe frost of 1912-13 or the floods of recent weeks; but about everything in the way of social, industrial or political disturbance of recent years has been laid at the door of the new party with an I-told-you-so air of satisfaction. Indeed there are some reactionary newspapers that, it would seem, would be "de-lighted" if California should be blotted off the map by a tidal wave if only the catastrophe could, with some semblance of truth, be charged to the machinations of the Progressive party.

The latest terrible thing the Progressives are blamed for is the "Army of the Unemployed." By seeking to control law-defying wealth the Progressives, it is charged, encourage anarchy.

Let Theodore Roosevelt answer the charge. Let the great-souled, intrepid leader speak for the Progressives. In his autobiography, speaking of the prosecution of law-defying corporations by his administration, he says:

We seek to control law-defying wealth, in the first place to prevent its doing evil, and in the next place to avoid the vindictive and dreadful radicalism which, if left uncontrolled, it is certain in the end to arouse. Sweeping attacks upon all property, upon all men of means, without regard to whether they do well or ill, would sound the death knell of the Republic; and such attacks become inevitable if decent citizens permit rich men whose lives are corrupt and evil to dominate in swollen pride, unchecked and unhindered, over the destinies of this country. We act in no vindictive spirit, and we are no respecter of persons. If a labor union does what is wrong we oppose it as fearlessly as we oppose a corporation that does wrong; and we stand with equal stoutness for the rights of the man of wealth and for the rights of the wage-workers; just as much so for one as for the other. We seek to stop wrong-doing, and we desire to punish the wrong-doer only so far as is necessary in order to achieve this end. We are the staunch upholders of every honest man, whether business man or wage-worker.

On behalf of all our people, on behalf no less of the honest man of means than of the honest man who earns each day's livelihood by that day's sweat of his brow, it is necessary to insist upon honesty in business and politics alike, in all walks of life, in big things and in little things; upon just and fair dealing as between man and man. We are striving for the right in the spirit of Abraham Lincoln when he said:

"Fondly do we hope—fervently do we pray—that this mighty scourge may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsmen's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, 'The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'"

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

The Water That Is Past

From the Minneapolis Journal

An old saw that the mill would never grind "with the water that is past" was intended to stir the reluctant mind to seize the passing opportunity. But it often had the effect of inculcating a sort of fatalism, a "too late" argument that resulted in stagnation rather than in action.

Of later years we have come to believe that it is never too late, and that the water that is past frequently grinds again, if we give it a chance to do what is always within its power. Down at Santa Ana in Southern California they are making the river grind seven times. The Santa Ana river has its source in the San Bernardino mountains, where it is held and its force converted into electric force. Then it is allowed to continue on its way till it reaches a point where it is stopped and made to grind for its release. Further down it is stopped and set to work again, until, by the time it has reached the fair city of the plain, it has been converted into power seven times over.

Not only is it put to mechanical uses, but it is made in its course to the sea to irrigate orchards and alfalfa meadows several times. The water that has passed is always doing something worth while.

It is never too late for a man to do something if he will put himself in touch with the sources of power. It is the man who lies back and says that he cannot grind with the water that is past, that opportunity once gone is gone forever, who is not able to do anything. It was an early and now neglected American poet who wrote:

"Labor is life; 'tis the still water faillth."

Keep the watch wound or the dark rust assailth."

The River of Opportunity is always flowing, and when its waters have passed they are again taken up into the clouds and returned to the fountain head ready to make the trip again and to grind the grist for any man who will set up his mill along their course.

Back to their springs, like the rain, shall fill them full of refreshment; That which the fountain sends forth returns again to the fountain."

It is never too late for any living man. Let him go to his work with confidence that all the forces of the universe are on his side, if he will put himself in touch with them. It is work that makes men, not complaint and socialistic propaganda.

The Political Watchtower

John Cook of Anaheim is out of the sheriff's fight. At least he says he is out, and he ought to know. Some of his friends would like mighty well to persuade him to stay in, but Cook has made up his mind that he would be loser even if he should turn out winner.

He has a big lot of land on the San Joaquin that he is farming and a fine place at Anaheim to look after, and he figures that if he were sheriff he would lose more by being compelled to neglect his property than he would gain by being a county officer. Cook was in the race only a couple of weeks, but certainly he stirred things while he was at it. His advent caused all the candidates for the office to shuffle their cards, for there was little question but that Cook made things look different. He was getting some of the strength of each of the other candidates. His ultimate success was a question that friends of Wassum, Jackson, Jernigan and Rudlock were willing to go to bat upon.

Of things political that have come under the spyglass of the Watchman in the last week, one of the most interesting is the development in the three supervisory districts in which elections are to be held. Supervisors Smith of Santa Ana and Schumacher of Buena Park can sit back and watch all the rest of the county officers fuss and fume. Those two men are hold-overs. Supervisors Talbert, Leck and Struck are all candidates for re-election, and each of the three is ready to meet any and all comers.

It is reported here in Santa Ana that J. P. Greeley of East Newport is going to be a candidate for supervisor against Jasper Leck of Tustin. Greeley was county superintendent of schools for a good many years, then he was a candidate for state superintendent and failed to get the nomination. After that for several years he was superintendent of the state school at Whittier. Since Gov. Johnson went into office and a successor to Greeley was named, Greeley has been living at East Newport.

So far Leck is the only candidate from Tustin, and the talk is that Tustin is going to back him strong for re-election. If Greeley is elected he will have to depend largely on the rest of the district, and Leck's friends say he is strong outside of Tustin as well as inside.

Out to the west there is going to be a right smart go of it for supervisor. With Tom Talbert running for re-election and G. W. Moore and Van Winkle of the Westminster country all out for the job, things ought to mix up lively enough to suit those who like to see a good scrap. Talbert has announced himself as a candidate, and is actively engaged in letting that fact be known to his friends. Moore was a supervisor from that district at one time, and resigned. Talbert was appointed to take his place. Talbert does not feel at all disposed to step down and out and let Moore have the job back.

Over around Orange there are two or three prospective candidates against Fred Struck. It seems to be conceded that L. E. Smith of West Orange is to be a seeker for the place. A lot of his friends want him to run. Then up at Villa Park there is some talk of L. E. Thurston. Some time ago there was talk that Guy Richards of Orange, foreman of the late grand jury, would be in the race, but that talk has died out and it is understood that it is dead to stay dead, as Richards has given up any intention he may have had to try for the place.

The Watchtower has been informed that Col. Heathman, city attorney of Santa Ana, is considering his chances of being elected a judge of the superior court. It will be remembered that some years ago the colonel had the position in mind, and he came very near running at that time.

And there is going to be another contest that is going to be chuck full of interest. Joseph C. Burke, who is city clerk of Santa Ana, is going to run for assemblyman. Assemblyman Hans V. Weisel, Progressive, wants to be returned to the legislature. Burke, a Republican, is to be a candidate against him. That is one office that will not be settled at the primaries. It is not a non-partisan job. Each party will select its nominee in August, and the nominees will go against each other in the November election.

...THE END...

[From "The Crescent Moon," by Babindranath Tagore, the Indian Poet.]

It is time for me to go, mother; I am going. When in the pining darkness of the lonely dawn you stretch out your arm for your baby in the bed, I shall say, "Baby is not there!"—mother, I am going.

I shall become a delicate draught of air and caress you; and I shall be ripples in the water when you bathe, and kiss you and kiss you again.

In the dusty night when the rain patters on the leaves you will hear my whisper in your bed, and my laughter will flash with the lightning through the open window into your room.

If you lie awake thinking of your baby until late in the night, I shall sing to you from the stars, "Sleep, mother, sleep."

On the straying moonbeams I shall steal over your bed, and lie upon your bosom while you sleep.

I shall become a dream and through the little opening of your eyelids I shall slip into the depths of your sleep, and when you wake and look around startled, like a twinkling firefly I shall flit out into the darkness.

When on the great festival of puja the neighbors' children come and play about the house, I shall melt into the music of the flute and throb in your heart all day.

Dear auntie will come with puja presents and will ask, "Where is our baby, sister?" Mother, you will tell her softly, "He is in the pupils of my eyes, he is in my body and in my soul."

North Whittier Heights

"IS THE CREAM OF"

ORANGE, LEMON, GRAPE FRUIT, AVOCADO AND WALNUT LAND SUBDIVISIONS

Being thoroughly familiar with the conditions necessary for growing "citrus groves that pay" in California and realizing, as we do, that there are a number of exceptionally valuable citrus districts throughout the state, we honestly believe that the North Whittier Subdivision is the "cream" of all citrus subdivisions now being actively offered on the market.

If you are contemplating an investment in a choice piece of citrus land and which is also an ideal location for a suburban home, we shall be pleased to have you make a personal investigation of our claim for North Whittier Heights. We are selling these properties to some of the most successful citrus growers and nurserymen in the state and we believe that if you once see the property, you will desire a portion of it for yourself.

The property is being sold in unplanted tracts of 5, 10, 15 and 20 and up to 50 acres or in 5 and 10 acre tracts set to Valencia orange, Eureka lemon and Marsh Seedless grape fruit, and on easy terms if desired. We will also contract to care for groves for non-resident purchasers.

We shall be pleased to have you call for, phone or write for full information of the property and descriptive folder containing map of Southern California. If you wish to have us do so, we will have a representative call on you to explain the merits and conditions of the property personally and, if you can possibly be interested, to take you to see the property by automobile.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETING

President Mrs. Uttley Surprised Members With Delightful Social Afternoon

A most delightful day was spent yesterday by the members of the Woman's Club, meeting at the home of Mrs. B. Uttley, the president of the Club. Mrs. Uttley made the event a special one in honor of Ireland's patron saint, whose birthday afforded opportunity for out of the ordinary decorations. The hostess had effectively used a profusion of English lily such as "creeps over castle walls," and the pretty plum blossom instead of the immemorial jessamine. An Irish flag, shamrocks, and a miniature pig were significant emblems of Ireland.

The leader of the day being absent, Mrs. Uttley read a sketch of the remarkable man who has been enshrined in the hearts of the Irish as saint Patrick, and each member added a quota of Irish lore. Excerpts of Irish wit and wisdom were given in response to roll call. Misses Amy Bent and Freda Moesser contributed to the pleasure of the afternoon with music, Miss Bent singing "Marie, My Girl" and "You'd Better Ask Me." The Irish ballads were accompanied by Miss Freda Moesser. Both Miss Moesser and Miss Bent were gowned in emerald green, wearing charming Irish lassies. Mrs. C. J. Crose sang "Kathleen Aroon," Mrs. Jack Crose accompanying, responding to an encore. Mrs. Jack Crose pleased with a brilliant piano number.

It is not the custom of the Woman's Club to have refreshments at its regular meetings, so it was a pleasant surprise for the ladies to be served with delectable ice cream, home-made cake and candy. A shamrock design was frozen in the individual ice cream and the tempting candy was served in green baskets adorned with miniature Irish flags. Souvenirs of the day were tiny pipes and shamrocks inscribed with the name of the guest and the date of the event. The favors were the handiwork of Mrs. Uttley. That the successful efforts of the hostess to make the event one of such unexpected and out-of-the-ordinary pleasure were appreciated was shown by the expression from the club members. Her thoughtfulness was all the more appreciated as the day was one on which few would have made any extra exertion. She was assisted by Misses Bent and Moesser and Mesdames J. B. Rowland and C. S. Shaw.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Anna Gale and each member is asked to take her best "April Fool" story.

THE PARTY

"I'm six today," said Katie Lee.

"There were six candies at my tea;

was served at 6:30 o'clock and was

Tuition Fund is Distributed by

It cost that portion of Orange county not included in any high school district the sum of $17,658.27 to send its pupils to high school during the last year. County Superintendent of Schools R. P. P.E. OFFICIAL GIVES HEARING

President Paul Shoup Will Meet Trustees in Los Angeles

Orange News: The city trustees are planning to interview President Paul Shoup of the Pacific Electric railroad tomorrow in an endeavor to learn when the company expects to finish its Orange line, and incidentally when it intends to repair the paving on West Chapman avenue.

An engagement has been made with the Pacific Electric head at 10 a.m. tomorrow. At the meeting of the council last evening all of the members signified their intention of attending the conference. It is expected that at last something definite will be developed as to the reason for the delay in completing the Santa Ana-Orange line.

The trustees received an estimate of the cost of a concrete bridge on East Chapman avenue. Architect J. Flood Walker estimated that the city's share of the concrete work would be $8400. The report was filed and continued.

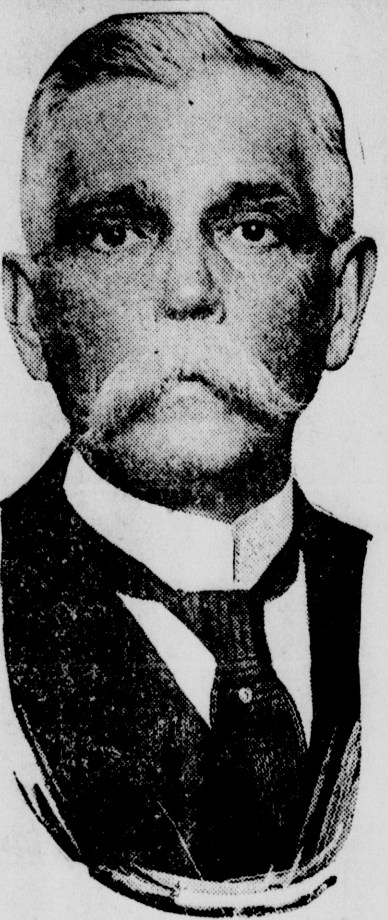

Notice was received that the gas rate hearing before the railroad commission had been postponed again, this time from March 13 to March 26. The city will be represented at the hearing, which is to be held in San Francisco. The city and the gas company are joining in a petition to have the rate on natural gas sold here fixed at 75 cents per 1000 cubic feet. The present rate on artificial gas is $1.22, also set by the railroad commission.

FORTY ACRES WALNUTS SOLD

Daniel Halladay has sold forty acres of walnuts at the corner of McFadden and Halladay streets to Barney Cline, a well known El Toro rancher. This property is a part of the original purchase made in Santa Ana by Halladay about thirty-five years ago.

An Unlucky Man
"Well, I'll pay you that dinner I lost on the Giants. What will you have?"
"I think I'll take steak and mushrooms."
"I'm afraid to take a chance on mushrooms. A man as unlucky as I am would be apt to get toadstools."

Successor of Senator
Bacon of Georgia

William Stanley West, capitalist and lawyer of Valdosta, Georgia, has been appointed by Governor John M. Slaton of that state to serve as United States senator from Georgia in place of Senator Bacon, who recently died. Senator Bacon was one of the strongest men in the senate, and for many years, even during the days when Aldrich of Rhode Island and Hale of Maine were the powers controlling that body, he held a high place. After the senate was won to the Democrats he became one of the great influences in the national government. Mr. West is sixty-five years of age. He has had experience in the Georgia legislature. He said after the governor announced his choice that he would do his best to carry out the policies of the late senator he succeeded, and President Wilson.

STORM INTERRUPTED EUROPEAN BUSINESS

PARIS, March 18.—Telegraphic and telephonic communication between Paris and many of the European continental cities almost wholly was interrupted yesterday by the storm which has raged since Monday. Much of the stock exchange business between Paris and London was conducted by way of New York. The storm broke down the embankment along the River Scheidt near Termonde, Belgium, yesterday and the greater part of the city was flooded. The inhabitants of Termonde fled panic-stricken into the country, seeking shelter in the farm houses.

ADMITS GRAFT IN FIGHT AGAINST CANAL BILL CLAUSE

WASHINGTON, March 18.—President P. T. Bowles of the Fore River Ship Building Co., testified today before the senate lobby committee that he had paid Clarence De Knight one thousand dollars as a retainer promising a contingent fee of $4000 if he succeeded in eliminating the canal bill provision forbidding railroad owned ships from using the Panama Canal. He said De Knight wrote him making the proposition which he accepted. He testified later that Bowles advised him that he had gotten in touch with Representative Knowland of California whom he knew quite well and who would lead the fight against the provision. Bowles was formerly an admiral of the American navy. He denied that he left the service because of charges preferred against him. He admitted that he had been employed by the ship building trust to make various appraisals in the ship yards before he left the service.

Knocking the Militants
Here are some prize-winning descriptive epigrams submitted in a recent advertising contest in which short definitions of a suffragette were asked for:
A suffragette is a woman who thinks she has been devoted long enough.
Not satisfied with the last word, she also wants the first.
She is a woman who needs the "poll" for her vaulting ambition.
A suffragette is a thing of beauty and a jawer forever.
A woman who would rather break windows than clean them.
A woman whose troubles are certainly not "little ones."
One who spends more time airing her views than viewing her heirs.
A woman who will spare no pains to get her rights.
A woman who would rather rock the country than the cradle.—Exchange.

HOW WELL IS UNCLE SAM FIXED FOR ACTUAL WAR WITH MEXICO?

81,000 Officers and Enlisted Men Make Up U. S. Army--122,000 Militia Are Available for Instant Call

GALVESTON, Texas, March 18.—Just at this time when so many fresh difficulties are springing up in the Mexican situation there are perhaps few citizens of the nation who do not wonder how well our army is prepared for actual warfare—for it is a better trained and more alert army than it has been for many years.

Great advances have been made by the United States army in the last few years. For instance the rifle now in use has a range of 2850 yards, more than one and one-half miles, and it has the necessary wind ranges for various winds. The militia, regular infantrymen, and the navy have the same style and model guns, whereas during the Spanish American war the navy had one kind, the army another kind and the militia a third.

Our navy now has 27 modern battleships and nine old battleships, 15 first class cruisers, three second class cruisers, 14 third class cruisers, 21 gunboats, 49 destroyers, 32 torpedo boats and 35 submarines. The best part of the force could be quickly mobilized to effectually blockade all Mexican ports. Soldiers of the regular army and the militia have been given thorough practice in handling and firing their rifles, the amount of rifle practice now given each man being more than double what it was a few years ago, so that the men are all familiar with their arms and 99 per cent of them are good shots at stationary and moving targets, for all kinds of surprise firing has been lately introduced. The heaviest obtainable type of automobile trucks that can carry several tons of provisions, arms, ammunition, etc., have added much to the speed with which supplies, and consequently troops, can be moved overland. These trucks are capable of making twenty miles per hour under adverse conditions, and over smooth level roads could possibly make 30 miles an hour if such speed were necessary. Motorcycles have been furnished members of the aviation and other squads which need to make quick trips about the field or post, and these have greatly shortened the time required for establishing wireless camps, signal service camps, and carrying for aviators and aeroplanes. So many automobiles, trucks and motorcycles have been already put into use that it is certain that in the event of war with a foreign country the automobile would play a considerable part, but the horse and the mule would not be eliminated.

The army at present is sadly lacking in field artillery batteries, that being its most striking deficiency, but on the other hand the signal corps is far in advance of those of other armies, as here will be found every one of the very latest discoveries in wireless telegraphy, telephony and telegraphy, as well as the most serviceable instruments and the quickest possible sort of method for getting from one place to another, the motorcycle. Our battle ships along the Gulf coast could effect a perfect blockade of every port within 24 hours. The troops now stationed here and at other points in Texas could be gotten to any section of the Texas border within less than 24 hours, while those sent out from Mexican gulf ports on the transports would reach their destination anywhere from 36 to 60 hours after embarking here. The large army transports now in Galveston harbor can accommodate an average of 3000 men each, carrying on board rations for 18 days, and they are already stocked with these necessary rations. The men could be safely on board and out of port a few hours after orders for embarkation were received.

On the whole, the land fighting force of the United States today, while somewhat small, is admittedly the flower of all armed bodies ever raised by this country. With militia-men to the number of 122,000 ready for call and countless thousands of volunteers available, all the men necessary could be sent into the field within six months, in prime condition and ready for fighting against the best trained soldiers of any country.

Mrs. Hardwork—"I certainly do detest housecleaning time. Here I've been scrubbing and scrubbing until the skin is all off my knuckles, and I just can't get the floors and paint clean."

Anty Drudge—"All the elbow grease in the world won't clean things if you use the wrong soap. Get Fels-Naptha and the grease and dirt on floors and paint-work will disappear like magic."

Fels-Naptha Soap is better than an extra pair of hands in house cleaning.

It makes dirt fly from walls, floors, windows and anything else that's cleanable.

No scrub-brush or hot water is necessary. Just Fels-Naptha, cool or lukewarm water, and a soft cloth.

Fels-Naptha Soap dissolves the dirt in a jiffy so it can be rinsed away; it doesn't have to be scoured off.

Directions for all uses of Fels-Naptha are printed on the red and green wrapper.

WILLIAM C. ELLIS, FAINTING IN WITNESS CHAIR BEFORE HE WAS CONVICTED OF MURDER OF WIFE

William C. Ellis, the Cincinnati man who has just been convicted of murdering his wife in a Chicago hotel last October, was placed under such a strain during the cross-examination by his prosecutor that he fainted in the witness chair. Before a crowded courtroom, in which there were many well-dressed women, he showed signs of nervousness, and finally fell forward till he was caught by those nearest him.

Ellis claimed that he had been driven to insanity by knowledge that his wife had given her love to Fred G. Cauldwell of Brantford, Ont., a young dry goods merchant. He followed his wife here several days after she went to Chicago on a visit to relatives. They celebrated their ninth wedding anniversary with a dinner and theater party the night of the murder.

When found with the body Ellis appeared dazed. He had slightly slashed his own wrists and throat. He at first declared the tragedy was a result of a suicide agreement because of his business troubles. Before the coroner's jury he changed his explanation. He testified that he alone was responsible for the killing, but that he had meant that both should die.

He was sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment.

After Dinner Chats With Apricot Growers

By J. G. Bernicke, M. D.

The last pound of 1913 crop of dried apricots has left Orange county. The same is practically true of California. A small number of outside growers here were holding with strong determination for 12 cents per pound. They received a fraction less than 12 cents. They stood their ground with commendable pluck, and since I sympathized strongly with them, I made it my pleasurable duty to keep them informed on the movements of the market. There was never a slump in price. It has slowly but steadily crept up, and a 12 cent net price to them was well justified by wholesale prices. While I feel pleased with their success, I must confess that the weakness of their position became more and more apparent as one after another sold, leaving finally but one who less than a carload to sell. Could he readily have commanded 12 cents, because of the brisk demand. Again, if it had not been for the firmness with which the Exchange held its price, these unorganized growers would probably have lost in the game. As nearly as I have been able to ascertain, the Exchange held more apricot stock at this time than any other coast packer. Any weakness on the part of the Exchange would have done these growers. The stock held by the Exchange at this time was the second pool fruit shipped from this county. This is now nearly cleaned up, according to latest advices.

What is the lesson of this? It is the old lesson: "In unity there is strength." It was the association fruit, held at a firm price, which made it possible for these few unorganized growers to hold on for a good price and win out. We in the association have helped them; it is their turn to come into the association, and help us to help them.

And we may well admit that these men helped the association, to the extent that they held stubbornly and firmly for a 12 cent price for a long time, and compromised for but a fraction less. On the other hand, because they did finally sell for a little less, it made it just a little slower and harder for the association to make its sales for a better price.

But what of those who sold for nine and a half or 10 cents? They did not do justice to themselves, and they did not do justice to their neighbors.

On March 11, 1913, just a year ago as I write, the Register published an article in which I said: "I am willing to be quoted as saying that the price will probably range from nine to 12 cents a pound. At the same time I think it likely that the price will start with 10 cents." How near right do you think I was? As a matter of fact I have heard of no other county where the growers got less than 10 cents. And I have a very strong suspicion that the small number of Orange county growers who sold at nine and a half cents are too poor or too indolent to read a paper. At all events, the growers who sell at a low price, which does not cover the cost of production, make it difficult for every other grower to obtain a price which covers the cost of production. Most growers had so small a crop last year that they were losers even at 10 cents or more per pound.

The last warm days from the 7th to the 10th have brought out the blossoms amazingly, and most apricot orchards are a pleasing sight at present. This improves the outlook for a good crop just now. But we shall know more later. Meanwhile we farmers hope—we always hope.

Did you prune your trees since the last crop? I see many orchards that give little, if any, evidence of having been pruned. What will be the result? Small, sunburnt fruit, that will grade out as standard. And what of that? Just this: The foreign trade will not buy this fruit. It calls for choice, extra choice and fancy. The domestic trade buys it with reluctance. From quite a few large buying centers comes the word: "We cannot use standard here." One of our large associations had two carloads of standard left when everything else was sold. Orange county was fortunate last year in having but a very small per cent of standard. Hemet had such a big crop that about one-third proved to be standard. Of course, the grower at Hemet, with such fruit, could not expect as good a price as was paid for Orange county fruit. When the fruit sets too heavily, it must be thinned out, or else there will be a lot of standard. Thinning may be done by the actual process of thinning by hand, or it may be done by cutting back during the next few months. In the matter of pruning the old saying is: "Prune while your knife is sharp." That is regardless of time or season. I would say it is rather late for pruning now, but better late than never. Summer pruning is highly recommended. I have had considerable done the past year, and shall watch the result with great interest. It has seemed to me so far that the fruit buds developed with greater vigor, and that the bloom came earlier. In my orchard we were drying cots and pruning trees at the same time last summer. This became possible because all the fruit had set on the outside of the trees. In cutting back we did not have to amputate fruit bearing twigs. We did not attempt to go over the tip top of the larger trees, but reserved that portion for a later date. The trees certainly show up in fine shape, and I do not expect to have much small fruit even if there is a heavy setting.

Our friends in the northern counties practice pruning far more than we do, and that is said to account for their getting a better price for their fruit. I am well assured, however, that we can raise as large and as fine fruit here when we make the effort, as our friends up there. I would advise our apricot growers seriously to get rid of small, sunburnt fruit, and raise the standard of our fruit to that of the northern apricot growers.

The difference in price between the standard grade and the other grades seems to be increasing. There is a difference this year of one and a half to one and three-quarters cents between standard and the next grade, choice, and there is a wide difference between standard and fancy—three to three and a half cents. The difference in price will warrant the grower to go to some trouble in ruling out standards. It looks to me as if the standard grade is an imposition on the poor man, who thinks he can economize by buying it.

Heading in, or heading back, if begun with young trees and persistent, carried out year by year, will produce a well shaped tree with stout limbs, less subject to breaking down. It also appears to give the tree a healthy appearance. I believe that such an orchard will be longer lived. I have been asked how long apricot trees will live and bear well. I can not say positively, but I have some trees 35 to 40 years old that bear as large and fine crops as one might wish to see. With proper care and under right conditions of soil, drainage and so on, an apricot tree will probably outlive the man who planted it. Apricot orchards are coming to be more desirable property than they have been, and when the growers shall have learned to do their marketing of the crop co-operatively, there will be nothing to beat it.

SET LIMITS OF DISTRICT TO BE USED

Garden Grove Delegation Not in Favor of Being Assessed for River

ANAHEIM, March 18.—J. W. Duckworth was chairman and George L. Dietrich the secretary of the meeting held last evening in the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce rooms for the purpose of hearing the report of the River Protection Committee, which was appointed March 6 to determine the advisability of forming a protection district. The report favored the formation of such a district though the boundary lines embraced a smaller territory than previously discussed. This leaves Anaheim to bear 83 per cent of the assessment.

A large delegation was present from Garden Grove to protest against being included in the district, stating that inasmuch as they had experienced no difficulties from the overflow of the Santa Ana river in the past, they were unwilling to aid Anaheim at this time.

A. A. Mills in replying said that should Anaheim be inclined to protect only that section which was immediately adjacent to her city limits, it would leave some three miles of rampant river to be cared for by the citizens of Garden Grove. This would not only greatly reduce the cost of protection to the people of Anaheim, as it would include only that part of the river from the Santa Fe bridge to one-half mile south of Olive bridge, but it would also make the property owners in the Garden Grove district liable to overflow when the channel has been made ac-

Sir Lionel Carden,
British Mexican Minister
Departs for Home

Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister to Mexico, whose alleged comments on the policy of President Wilson there have been the cause of much surprise in the United States, sailed away from America the other day on the liner Olympic for London. Then he took occasion to issue a general denial of the criticisms of the American policy that had been attributed to him when he was in Mexico City. He insisted that he had not said the things the newspapers have quoted for three months as coming from him.

But he showed he was still a partisan of President Huerta of Mexico. He said Huerta is the only man able to rule or come near ruling the Mexicans, and should be recognized by every government.

A committee, comprising J. Frederick Ahlborn and A. A. Mills of Anaheim, H. S. Halladay of Santa Ana, Frank Hazard of Garden Grove and W. T. Brown of Fullerton, was appointed to draft a law which would give the supervisors authority to levy a tax for river protection.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated,
Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

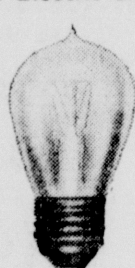

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—be it full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhea, stomach-ache, bad breath, or member, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Advertisement.

Now you are enjoying a 7 cent per kilowatt maximum lighting rate, with free lamp renewals. The rate decreases to a minimum of 2½ cents per kilowatt hour, the scale of reduction being in proportion to the amount consumed.

Nine years of voluntary rate reduction is our record. New rates (effective March 1st, 1914) show the enormous cheapening in light, while nearly all other commodities of life have continuously advanced.

RECREATION SPECIALIST SPEAKS HERE

Dr. John Brown to Appear at Schools as Guest of County
Y. M. C. A.

The school people of Orange county are to have with them for two days, March 19 and 20, Dr. John Brown of New York City, who is connected with the International Y. M. C. A. as specialist in health and recreation.

Dr. Brown will give an address in Anaheim Thursday evening, March 19, at 7:45 o'clock, in the Fremont school building, on "Health and Recreation in Relation to Education and Morality."

On Friday evening he will give the same address in the Intermediate school in Santa Ana.

Dr. Brown has made a special study of play and its relation to the subject of character building, and it is especially advisable that parents as well as teachers should make it a point to attend one or the other of these lectures.

Dr. Brown will, during the day, visit a number of the schools of the county and will give play-ground demonstrations for the benefit of the teachers and pupils. Parents are also invited to visit the schools on these days and witness these.

Dr. Brown comes as the guest of the County Committee of the Y. M. C. A. of Orange county, and no admission fee is charged to either of these lectures and no collection will be made. Dr. Brown has just been the guest of the state convention of the Y. M. C. A. at Long Beach, at which he delivered a number of addresses on his subjects.

VIRGINIA DARKY PRINCESS WILL HELP CONVERT ZULUS WITH HUSBAND SHE FOUND AT INSTITUTE

Princess Madikane Quandiye Cele, who was Julia Smith, a little Virginia darky, before she went to Hampton Institute, is going with her Zulu husband, son of a Zulu king, to convert the African negroes to Christianity.

They married four months ago, and next week Cele and his bride will sail for Durban, on the east coast of Africa, and thence overland to the Zulu settlement, where they plan to build a school, where Cele will teach the men how to read and write and make wagons and build houses, and Julia will instruct the women in housekeeping arts.

Julia is a serious, plump, steady-eyed young person, who looks forward to her new life with calmness and confidence, albeit the old father to whom her husband is taking her is a reformed polygamist. He was once a mighty prince in Zululand, was this old savage, and, as became his dignity, he had many wives. But he had a yearning for greater wisdom and, hearing that there were white men in the land who could give him wisdom, he traveled many leagues to sit at their feet. They were missionaries, these white men, and through them he became a Christian—so much a Christian that he renounced his princedom and turned missionary. He put away his wives, all except Cele's mother.

"My mother was the youngest and the prettiest; that is why he kept her," Cele explained yesterday in a matter-of-fact way.

DRAMA ABROAD AND AT HOME

By Beau Rialto

NEW YORK, March 14.—"The Last Resort" at the Longacre Theatre is not that at all. It is a regular melodrama of the ten-twenty pattern and grips the feelings, risibilities and emotions even if it totally lacks the logic that appeals to the brain. And better still, it is a clean play, even if George Scarborough, lurid chronicler of white-slavery did write it. Scarborough, who wrote "The Lure" and "At Day" both of which aroused storms of comment and were short-lived in New York because of their salacious features, surprised his followers with "The Last Resort" in which the "red light" has no part.

The play is one of the most vicious and violent attacks on the judiciary yet seen on Broadway. In spots it is so palpably over-drawn and far-fetched that perhaps it defeats its object by failing to impress the audience with its vital lesson. But in the main the story of "The Last Resort" is true to life. It shows up the very things in our judicial system that are making men agitate reformers. The things this play depicts are the things that caused voters to demand the initiative and the referendum and caused Col. Roosevelt to advocate the recall of judges' decisions.

"The Last Resort" is a strong play, with an undertone of hard common sense and if the author had not made it so stagey and flamboyant, he might have accomplished great good. The heroine is a pretty newspaper girl who loves the hero and is always on the lookout for a good story for her paper. The hero is a young lawyer, filled with zeal for the rule of the people. He has made so much money that he does not need any more and he starts to clean up the government, starting in with the judiciary. The villain is a former United States senator, now a corporation lawyer, who holds the state's appellate court in the hollow of his hand by controlling two of the members. There are only three judges and until the last act it is believed that the third judge, the chief justice who is an honest man, can do anything.

Well then, the young lawyer, prosecuting the damage suit of an Irish washerwoman against the corporation lawyer's railroad, calls the trial judge a crook. He is sent to jail for contempt. The case is appealed. The two corrupt appellate judges and the ex-senator "frame-up" the reformer and are ready to railroad him when the newspaper girl bursts from the telephone booth, breaking the glass and tells them she has the place honeycombed with dictagraphs—a machine invented on purpose for melodrama—and "knows all."

The corrupt judges arrange to try the girl for burglary and she gets five years. The reformer is sent up for an indefinite term. While he is in jail, the "peepul" elect him governor. They also re-elect the chief justice, who gives the girl a stay of execution, releases the hero on a habeas corpus writ and issues warrants for the two crooked judges and the ex-senator. Then, all in the same breath the chief justice marries the hero and the pretty reporter and immediately the new governor pardons his wife and himself. Of course, the law by which all this is done is a bit hazy, but what matter? It's melodrama and thrilling. Just an after-thought: Some day some revolutionary play-carpenter will make his hero out of a corporation lawyer. Then won't the critics howl?

William Collier, of the defunct "Who's Who" and "A Little Water on the Side" experiments, went into a Broadway lunch counter place the other day, when in a hurry and ordered fried eggs.

"I want the same—but mind they are fresh," said a man sitting next to the comedian. "Fried eggs—two to come—and make one fresh," bawled the waiter to the window chef and now Collier eats elsewhere.

"What Would You Do?" Most folks who saw the play by that name at the Hudson Theater would not go again. That's one of the answers. There are a lot more. Some playgoers might answer the query by saying they would re-write the play if they were Augustus MacHugh, the author. How many men who wrote the exquisite comedy and screaming situations to be seen last season in "Officer 666" could put out the drive that went to make up "What Would You Do?" was more than the average first-nighter could understand.

An untitled observer would have been justified in thinking that it was MacHugh's first play—he made the mistake common to novices of trying to put all his cleverness in four acts. There is too much wit, too much smartness, too much coincidence in the play. It palls on one, cloyes the appetite and turns the mental stomach.

It does not follow by any means that the man who wrote "Officer 666" should of necessity continue to write nothing but farces, but MacHugh demonstrated with "What Would You Do?" If he accomplished nothing else, that writing serious drama is not his forte.

Steel Master Talks of Conditions

"It is not a desire for greater wealth which keeps me in the steel business. It is the 'game.' Money is the standard by which material accomplishment is measured. Business is improving rapidly in the East and throughout the country. Telegrams received since I left New York inform me of orders bettering the upward trend, which has been evident for three or four months." This is the utterance of Charles M. Schwab, steel king, who is now in Southern California on a short vacation. Continuing, he said:

"I am now having built abroad a fleet of ten 20,000-ton vessels, with which to ship ore from the western coast of South America to the eastern plants, through the Panama Canal. They will be ready for use in 1916. These ships will be among the largest to ply a trade through the canal, of which waterway the Bethlehem Company will be one of the most extensive users. There is a vast area of ore deposits in South America, particularly Chile. It is one of a very superior quality, equal to the best Swedish ore, and it will mean much to the steel business of the United States to get it.

"It was my intention to establish a rail mill in San Francisco, but I have given up those plans. Tariff conditions make them impracticable. Pacific Coast steel manufacturers cannot compete with foreign manufacturers. When you consider the question of fuel and the lack of a tariff, competition with the foreign manufacturers here is impossible. I think that for the present, at least, all development of this kind on the Pacific Coast is precluded by the tariff conditions that now obtain. However, I believe that the Pacific Coast, and especially California, is destined to be one of the most thickly populated parts of the United States and that it will become a manufacturing center. You have oil here, and a supply of it that is permanent, besides many other natural advantages. I like California very much. I have been ill and came here for a few weeks' rest. I could not have found a pleasanter place, and Pasadena and the parks here are magnificent.

"Profit sharing is my great hobby. I believe it should be adopted by every industry. But I do not believe in allowing a percentage of the total profits to workers. My idea is that when a workman by superior skill or application increases the product of a plant, he should receive direct acknowledgment of that fact in the form of a bonus.

"Is my coming here to make plans for a permanent home in California? No; I have no intention of that. This is pretty. It is nice here. But for me it would be too far from the center of my activities. Perhaps some day, when I am less actively engaged—but, no, I have no intentions of coming to California to live now.

"I shall go to San Francisco at the end of two weeks' stay here to inspect the Union Iron Works. We are preparing to make a considerable outlay at the Union Iron Works. The Hunter's Point drydocks will be reconstructed to accommodate vessels of 1,000 feet in length.

Big Bond Issues

"In view of the growing demand by investors for good railway bonds," says the St. Louis Globe Democrat, "a question has arisen as to why the Great Northern is offering to sell $19,000,000 new stock at par, which will carry annual dividend charges at 7 per cent. Great Northern could raise money on a 4 1/2 or 5 per cent basis by selling some of its $600,000,000 first and refunding bonds, but those bonds would carry fixed charges. In lean years dividends can be temporarily reduced without causing any great loss to shareholders. When a railroad fails to earn interest on its bonds a receiver is appointed and control passes out of the hands of the stockholders.

"Pennsylvania now has $500,000,000 stock outstanding, calling for $30,000,000 dividends. That stock amounts to $206,000 per mile of road, but the bonded debt per mile is only $65,000. The Erie, for example, has never paid a dividend on its common stock, and the reason is found in the fact that the company's total capitalization per mile is $206,000, of which $197,000 is in bonus bearing fixed charges. Great Northern's present capitalization per mile amounts to $28,000 in stock and only $20,000 in bonds."

Glassel Estate Worth Million

By accepting a fee for legal services 2,000 acres of land in Eagle Rock Valley, the late Andrew Glassel of Los Angeles founded a fortune. Mr. Glassel died in 1901 leaving an estate valued at $632,000. Monday last, when the matter of final distribution of the estate came up before Judge Rives in Probate Court, the estate had increased in value to more than $1,400,000.

Bank Department Donated

Colorado College has had a banking department endowed, a friend of the institution donating the income on $100,000 for a period of five years to establish a department of administration and banking. His offer has been accepted and Warren M. Persons, dean of economics, will be in charge of the department.

Liquid Fuel for Cooking

The Navy Department, after making a number of tests with oil, electric and coal ranges on war ships, has decided that oil stoves are much cleaner and cheaper and is installing them in galleys of war ships which use oil for fuel. The cost of cooking by the different methods was found to be about as follows: With an electric range, $22.50; with a coal range, $16.10, and with an oil range, $5.65.

Money Order System Profitable

The money order system of the Postoffice Department now yields a net income of more than $5,000,000 annually. A new law providing for the payment of postoffice money orders at any money order office, regardless of where drawn upon, will become effective in a few days. It is believed that this will double the present volume of business.

Railway Steel Springs Earnings

Advices from New York state that it is generally understood that the earnings of Railway Steel Springs for the year ended December 31, 1913, were not nearly as good as 1912, when they showed 5 1/2 per cent on common stock. The last six months of the year showed a sharp reaction in the company's business, causing a drop in profits.

Says Wheat Pit Is Trust

Characterizing the Chicago Board of Trade as "a giant of fictitious wheat transactions and the weapon of a price controlling monopoly," Samuel H. Greeley, for more than twenty years a member of the board, appeared on Tuesday before the House Committee on Rules. He was speaking on the resolution of Representative Mahan, which authorized an investigation of charges that the grain exchanges of Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis were a trust. Greeley appeared in behalf of several wheat growers' organizations of the Northwest and urged Federal action against an alleged monopoly maintained by the public warehouse men of Chicago and other market centers. Through memberships on the Chicago board and control of the storage of grain, the warehouse "trust," he declared, had built up an organization "which controls the wheat prices of the world more than any other agency except war scares and financial panics. The key to the situation, he declared, was dealing in futures, where no delivery was intended, and in this business the Chicago Board of Trade outstripped the other markets of the world combined. Among the charges which he alleged were:

That public warehousing in Chicago was conducted "openly and brazenly in violation of law without any organized opposition of State legal authorities" to crush open competition. "It is recognized," he asserted, "that 95 per cent at least of all cash grain which has entered public storage for many years has been controlled by the illegally operating warehouse proprietors. Innocent individuals are subject to many hardships of odds or percentages in the game which are correspondingly in favor of the combined warehouse man speculator. Closely associated with the questions herein involved should be considered the manufacture of so-called 'contract grades' of grain from mixtures of the lower grades with better grades. Such mixtures, illegally placed in public storage by subterfuges, are easily discovered and understood, and no doubt are known to exist by our State authorities, who should, but do not, properly control the warehouse business of Illinois.

"The effect of this," he said, "was to enable the warehouse men to keep in storage enough wheat to control the market in futures and establish the price on the farms at whatever they chose to make it."

It is said that if the hearings bring out sufficient evidence the subject will be referred to the Committee on Agriculture with recommendations that it draft legislation to remedy the alleged evils.

Prosperity Throughout Country

Robert W. Higbie, president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, who is in Pasadena for a short visit, in an interview is quoted as saying:

"From New York to the Pacific Coast a new business awakening has come. A renewal of confidence in the measures presented to Congress recently has brought about a new spirit of confidence among the business men and promises a new era of prosperity for the whole country. The business men of New York and of all the Eastern States during the last six weeks have undergone a complete change of spirit. The passage of the currency bill and the submission of the five anti-trust bills have brought to the business world a realization that the present administration is seeking to benefit the best interests of the whole country. Investments and business projects of all kinds which, during 1913, were held up because of fear for the future, now are being undertaken bravely.

"On my way west I have had opportunity to observe business conditions throughout the whole central West. The same spirit I found in New York is rampant in the middle West and in the Pacific Coast States. Apparently the business men of the country now are on the aggressive and are no longer willing to hold tight to what they have out of apprehension for the future.

"I am a supporter of the President's attitude on the Panama Canal tolls act, as I believe national honor comes before private gain. It appears to me that the integrity of the nation is in the balance as against a small measure of private profit. It should be plain to everybody that the small loss the country may sustain if our coastwise shipping is put on the same level with that of foreign nations in the canal means nothing as compared with the loss of prestige our country would sustain if the agreement entered into with Great Britain years ago in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty were broken."

Pasadena Home Telephone Company

In a statement filed with the City Commission of Pasadena, the Pasadena Home Telephone Company claims a gross deficit of $116,613.58 for the year 1913. The company's income in Pasadena is placed at $251,565.91, and its expenses at $294,613.37, showing on these two accounts a deficit of $142,315.21, to which is added two interest accounts—one on floating and one on fixed indebtedness—amounting to $23,577 and $19,176.81. These and other items bring the non-operative deficit up to $74,298.37, which, added to the operative deficit, makes the claimed deficit of $116,613.58. The operating expenses for the year are fixed at $196,470.41, and the company claims to have had a surplus at the beginning of the year amounting to $147,220.59, while the deficit for the year is placed at the very large sum of $132,381.31, with an additional reconstruction account of $41,626.54 and a first mortgage bond issue of which there is still outstanding $471,500.

The cost of the plant at the beginning of the year 1913 is placed at $1,643,553.90, while the figures for equipment added during the year are $206,944.11, making a total valuation on January 1, 1914, of $1,850,498. Phones in service through the Pasadena station number 11,298.

Canfield Inheritance Tax

An inheritance tax of $250,000 on the estate of Charles A. Canfield, who died in Los Angeles in August, 1913, was paid this week to the treasurer of Los Angeles County and will be turned over to the State. The total tax assessed was $263,157, but the heirs obtained a 5 per cent discount by paying it within six months after death. The payment represents only a part settlement of the inheritance tax.

Great Appropriation Bill

The postoffice appropriation bill which has just passed the Senate is the largest appropriation measure that has ever been passed either house of Congress. It carries $311,492,067.

February Building Permits

Building permits issued in Los Angeles during the month of February numbered 829, with a valuation of $1,455,730, of which 374 with a valuation of $690,000 were for new homes.

A CHECK BOOK THE BEST STABILIZER IN LIFE'S FLIGHT

YOU'VE read about Orville Wright's success with his aeroplane stabilizer, the balance wheel of flight. In life's flight you need several balance wheels. For instance, you need the balance wheels of honesty, of morality, of physical well being, of money. One might write a column about life's stabilizers. Instead we suggest that you THINK this sketch over.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Every day is St. Patrick's Day on the market during the past few weeks if green is the chosen color.

Artichokes have been coming regularly and in larger quantities, until they are selling as low as 25 cents a dozen, which is about as cheap as they get at any period of the year. The local stock is about all there is to get on the market, northern artichokes being all out. Green asparagus is selling better than the heavy white stalks, and quotations were unchanged yesterday. Lettuce was a little more plentiful. Cabbage is at the height of the season at this time and the product arriving is of good quality. This cannot be said of the little cauliflower that is coming in. It is practically impossible to buy a grade of real fancy cauliflower, the season being at an end. Celery and peppers continue high and more scarce every day. Bunch goods have practically settled into a quotation and stayed there for weeks, the supply being about the same from day to day. Some declines are looked for with the coming of the early spring crops in these products.

Eggs were steady in the trading yesterday. Warm days have sent the demand ahead and better prices rather than lower ones were looked for yesterday. Receipts were only 625 cases of local eggs.

The next section in line for county good roads work is Buena Park. Yesterday the County Highway Commission reported to the Board of Supervisors that all preliminary work is completed on three pieces of road in the Buena Park district, and that bids may now be received. Accordingly, March 31 at 2 o'clock was set as the time for receiving the bids.

One of the roads is that known as Commonwealth avenue, west of Fullerton. There will be 1.25 miles of that road and one-fourth of a mile known as Orangeflorpe avenue Section No. 2, to be paved. The main portion of the contract consists of 1.25 miles of road running through Buena Park, with Northam station at the north end, and also the road running parallel with the Santa Fe railroad from Northam station to the Los Angeles county line. This will be one of the roads connecting Orange county's good roads system with the Los Angeles roads.

After the Deeds
A conference was held yesterday between the supervisors and District Attorney West. They are anxious to clear up all the right-of-way matters along the state highway. It seems they had expected that before now a deed to the right-of-way would have been received from James Irvine. None of those present knew why the deed had been held up. There was information that a condemnation suit might be the quickest method of getting the title desired.

Contract Is Let
The bid of the Draper Co. for furnishing window shades for the County Hospital was accepted. The bid was $206.
The board adjourned to 2 o'clock, March 24.

CARTERCAR'S STUNTS NOVEL DEMONSTRATION TO CROWD OF 500

R. L. Draper's Cartercars did some novel stunts yesterday afternoon before a crowd of about 500 people, who gathered on West Fourth street in front of the Cartercar garage to see the things that were advertised. The Cartercar is a friction run car, and the tremendous power of the machine was demonstrated in a number of ways.

Three wagons loaded with lumber from the Pendleton Lumber Co. were pulled to a 30-horse power Cartercar. There was 25,000 pounds of lumber in the lot. The automobile had a standing start, and did exactly what Draper expected of it. It started the load to moving, and dragged it half a block. In attempting to cross the railway tracks, however, the wheels of the wagons hit soft asphalt and stopped. Draper then hitched on his 40-horse power Cartercar, and it took the heavy loads out of the place without difficulty.

Another interesting demonstration was in starting, stopping and reversing. A Cartercar was made to reverse almost without stopping. In fact the rear wheels, by slipping, would be going backward before the front wheels stopped going forward. Draper is highly pleased with the demonstration, as well he may be.

GRANDMA NEVER LET HER HAIR GET GRAY

Kept Her Locks Dark, Thick,
Glossy, With Sage Tea
and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Advertisement.

WHAT IS DOING ABROAD

By Karl Von Wiegand, Berlin Correspondent of U. P.

STOCKHOLM, March 17.—Gustav's vote on joint ballot is 79.

The Fifth King of Sweden, is being tried by his subjects. This is the real meaning of the campaign looking to the election of a new Riksdag which is now progressing with almost unprecedented excitement throughout the country. He has been popularly indicted on the charge of usurpation. The specifications include overruling the constitution, disregard of the wishes of Parliament, discourtesy to the cabinet, unwarranted attempts to influence legislation, and arrogation in publically proclaiming his own private views on political questions when he knew they ran counter to those of the people as expressed through their elected representatives. In other words, he is accused of trying to introduce into Sweden a certain well-known German brand of personal monarchy.

The evidence is all in, the arguments are now being made, and the verdict will be rendered next month at the polls. That it will be against the King there is little doubt, recent events have served to solidify the present progressive coalition, represented in the lower house of the Riksdag, by 101 Liberals and 63 Socialists as against 64 conservatives, and it would not be surprising if the great democratic wave which swept the Progressives into power three years ago would be exceeded this spring. Although the upper house is slightly Conservative, the Progress-

The original issue which led up to the present crisis, that of armaments, has almost been lost sight of in the bigger questions involved in the case of the People vs. the King. Suppose the verdict should be "guilty"—and the return of the Progressives to control of the government, even by a small majority, would be so construed by all parties—that of the "sentence?" That depends altogether upon the King himself. It would be the most humiliating rebuke administered to a European sovereign in modern times, but it would not necessarily mean his abdication in favor of his son, as some have suggested. If he bows to the will of the people and indicates by his conduct that he accepts their views of the limitations of kingship, "sentence" will be suspended. Gustav will be put on his good behavior, under bonds to keep the peace, as it were.

It is, of course, conceivable but highly improbable that he would desert his subjects. He is too fully aware of the strong undercurrent of republicanism pervading the country thus to risk the dynasty.

A Progressive victory would be all the more crushing to the King from the fact that he chose what from his standpoint was a most opportune time to test his powers—when the people, obsessed by "the Russian menace," might be expected to make almost any sacrifice of principle in order to maintain a united front in the face of a possible enemy. It was this fear of public Russian aggression that started the whole trouble. Whether rightly or wrongly, the people of Sweden as a whole, regardless of party or section, believe that Russia has designs on the Scandinavian peninsula. And there are some facts that seem to justify this conviction. They have seen the gradual Russianification of Finland, just across the Gulf of Bothnia; the throwing of her judges into prison; her land overrun with Russian soldiers; her railroads appropriated for the use of the military and extended to the Swedish frontier, and new fortifications being built that would seem unnecessary except in a war with Sweden. Moreover, numerous instances of espionage by Russian agents in both Sweden and Norway have occurred in the past few months.

The result was a general demand for adequate preparation. Even the Socialists were willing to spend enough money to put existing defenses into efficient condition. But the parties divided as to methods and scope. Karl Albert Staaff, the Liberal Premier, proposed to raise $15,000,000 for immediate defense purposes, by a graduated tax on large incomes, but he wanted to let the voters decide at a general election next fall, the proposition to increase the period of compulsory military service from eight to twelve months. The Conservatives begrudgingly agreed to appropriate all the money necessary for the period of military training were increased forthwith. Here's where Gustav took a hand. After warmly supporting demands for increased armament, the King openly upheld the Conservatives on the military training proposition.

This was taken as a gratuitous slap at the Premier and Progressives, with whom Socialists joined on this issue. When the King flatly refused in the future to inform his ministers before making public announcements on political subjects, the cabinet forthwith resigned. Following this the King has been unable to find anything more than a stop-gap cabinet to serve until the whole matter can be threshed out by the people themselves. Baron Hjalmas Leonard Hammarskjold was named Premier, selected by his fellow ministers, and shortly afterwards announced that the Riksdag would be dissolved and a new one elected to take up the armament question within three months.
